

Climate Action Week

JANUARY 25 - JANUARY 31

A series of fun and educational events sponsored by University Unitarian Church and its Climate Action Team
Free and open to the public • uuchurch.org/climateweek

Sunday
25

Kathleen Dean Moore, coeditor of Moral Ground and Rachele McCabe, pianist, 7pm

Against Rachmaninoff's thunderous conjuring of the end of the world, Moore issues a strong call to life in a time of extinctions. This is the inaugural Fleagle Lecture for outstanding leaders and thinkers in liberal religion and social action. Doors open at 6:30pm.

SPEAKER

Tuesday
27

Years of Living Dangerously #5, 7pm

Years of Living Dangerously is an award-winning documentary on climate change. Episode 5 highlights Governor Jay Inslee's efforts to address climate issues. Doors open at 6:30pm.

FILM

Wednesday
28

Yoram Bauman, Stand-up Economist, 7pm

Yoram Bauman is a PhD economist who makes a living as "the world's first and only stand-up economist". He is the co-author of The Cartoon Introduction to Climate Change and is also a leader of the CarbonWA.org campaign to bring a revenue-neutral carbon tax to Washington State and beyond. Doors open at 6:30pm.

COMEDY

Friday
30

Climate Monologues by Sharon Abreu, 7pm

A one-woman musical show that brings to life the stories of real people affected by climate change and working to solve the climate crisis. Doors open at 6:30pm.

MUSICAL

Saturday
31

Climate Action Festival - Resources for Change, 1-4pm

Learn how you and your family can take action against climate change.

Test drive a Tesla or electric bike • Learn about solar panels • Calculate your carbon footprint
350.org • Sierra Club • Seattle City Light • Seattle Electric Vehicle Association • and more!

RESOURCES

All events are at University Unitarian Church, 6556 35th Avenue NE, Seattle